

Your future is in your hands!

Health Educator/Promoter

What Is Public Health?

- health protection
- disease prevention
- health promotion
- injury prevention

Why Is It for You?

- great salaries
- local jobs available
- good work schedule
- jobs for a variety of professionals

Our health educators/promoters aren't stuck in an office all day! Instead, they're in schools, in workplaces and in the community promoting good health. All this flexibility, plus they can earn an average of $56 700 per year.

As a health educator/promoter you will:

- get creative by working on marketing and education campaigns
- work closely with the public and regularly meet new people
- make school presentations on healthy lifestyle choices for both students and teachers
- work with municipalities to create opportunities for physical activity (e.g., skateboard parks).
